BIOGRAPHY

Garrett Gonzales is an Emmy-nominated composer, multi-instrumentalist. After years of working in Los Angeles, Garrett has recently moved to Montreal, Canada. His work spans streaming hits, prestige television and award-winning video games. He is currently co-composing the CBS hit series Elsbeth and was nominated for an Emmy for Outstanding Music Composition for a Series (Original Dramatic Score) for The Mysterious Benedict Society (Disney+). His lead credits also include The Horror of Dolores Roach* (Amazon) and several other high-profile projects currently in production.

Garrett is known for his nuanced, character-driven scores that balance wit, mystery, and emotional depth. Whether composing the layered tones of Elsbeth or shaping the atmospheric worlds of The Last of Us Part II his work enhances storytelling with a style that feels both distinctive and deeply attuned to the narrative.

He has also collaborated extensively with Emmy-winning composers Mac Quayle and Siddhartha Khosla on acclaimed series such as Monsters* (Netflix), Ratched (Netflix), Only Murders in the Building* (Hulu), and Paradise* (Hulu). A lifelong film and gaming enthusiast, Garrett's early fascination with the visceral power of music in shaping story and character evolved into a flexible, story-first scoring style. Drawing on his background as a jazz saxophonist, (and flautist, clarinetist, cellist, pianist, percussionist and trumpet player), he brings a collaborative mindset and improvisational agility that allow him to adapt quickly and create music that feels both purposeful and alive.
